Minden Will Be First To Go Dial In County

Minden will be the first village in the former Dysart telephone system to go dial when the Bell Telephone Co. assumes ownership of the system January 1st, 1968.

As of that date the Bell Telephone Co. takes control and begins introducing its services to the area. Purchase price of the system is reported to have been $650,000 and employees of the Dysart system will be given the opportunity of joining the Bell Staff.

Only seven shareholders opposed the sale and 269 voted in favor of the move at a meeting held in Haliburton.

Proceeds from the sale will be divided among subscribers after all indebtedness has been met. A $72,000 debenture debt is included in the Dysart system's liabilities.

Bell Telephone officials estimate $2,000,00 will be spent before the dial system is introduced to the entire area. Completion date target is 1971.

$350 DAMAGE

Damage estimated at $350 resulted when a car went out of control on Highway 121 about five miles east of Highway 121 about five miles east of Haliburton Saturday afternoon and crashed.

Police said the driver of the vehicle was John Park, 62, of Dorset. Minden OPP Constable David Hiltz investigated.

MINOR HOCKEY ON TUESDAY

The Minor Hockey Association will hold a general meeting next Tuesday evening, November 21st, at 7 p.m.

This meeting will be to discuss transportation, management and coaches of teams, teams which have to be split up because of too many players.

President Don Campbell urges all executive to attend, and invites any interested parents.

THURSDAY SMILE

The only exercise some people get is jumping to conclusions, running down friends, sidestepping responsibility, pushing their luck.

HERE AND THERE

by FENWICK FINCH

I have a question which maybe someone connected with Radio or TV could answer for me. When you're sitting around watching the "idiot box" you have the programme modulated to where you can hear it comfortably. Suddenly they switch to a commercial and the sound goes up and they blast the bejassus out of your ears trying to get their message across. That's the question — why do they think they have to nearly rupture your eardrums to make you take an interest in their products.

* * * *

Speaking of TV advertising and products — have you noticed the one they have for a hair-conditioner? You know, the one where they dip two curls in the solution. One in the touted product and the other in the competition. The curl in the opposition proceeds to uncurl almost at once. But — not the one in the sponsor's product — it holds. The next time they show you this, take a look at the way they hold the curl — you couldn't uncurl it unless you pried the model's fingers open.

* * * *

Speaking of TV shows — this little old lady on the Quiz programme asked — "Mrs. Throckmorton, for Fifty-dollars can you tell us who was the first man?"

"Listen," she shot back, blushing, "I wouldn't tell you that for a million dollars!"

* * * *

With all this talk of air and water pollution we become a little more conscious of things. Take the other day for instance I have a slight problem in air pollution. I had just come out of Reid's bookstore in Peterborough and was standing on the intersection waiting for the lights to turn when my nostrils were assailed by a series of smells that reminded me of a parcel of goats being chased through a field that had just been heavily seeded with pig manure. I looked around and found myself to be "down-wind" of two greasy, long-haired boys and what I suppose would pass for a girl. The trio were just about the dirtiest and foulest smelling small group I have ever run across in my life. The light changed and I crossed the intersection behind and "up-wind" of them. I used to wonder what useful purpose these creeps served but now I know — they made me feel thankful for my lot in life. First, that I hadn't sired anyone of this trio and secondly that once they got half a block away the air would clear up again.

* * * *

Christmas must surely be on the way — the carols have started, the pressure is on to buy, buy, and buy. What has become of the old-fashioned spirit of Christmas? Now everything is so commercial the message is almost lost behind the advertising.

* * * *

Speaking of Christmas — "Santa Claus is the only one I know that can run around all night with a bag and not get talked about."

Give some thought to the upcoming liquor vote — don't let it get defeated — it's a good deal for the economics of the County and the economy could stand a good shot in the arm instead of where the tax payers have been getting it.

If you want something to think about until next week, think of this. Years ago Socrates thought that if all our misfortunes were laid in one common heap, whence everyone must take an equal portion, most persons would be contented to take their own and depart.

Fenwick

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

November 13, 1967.

Dear Fenwick,

Run up the Centennial Flag & shoot off the fireworks, 'cause for once I DO AGREE WITH YOU.

The Liquor Vote should prove most interesting and I'm hoping for favourable results. Imagine being able to have a shot of Sherry served with your meal.

The W.C.T.U. may take a dim view of this, but I think it would do for Minden what the "Twin Towers" on Bay St. did for good 'OL "TO".

The Council was farsighted enough to purchase that Park Land, now let's see whether your locals can match them in looking ahead to the future.

Let me say Fenwick, I enjoy a glass of Sherry or even Champagne but that's the limit for me, but my "Better Half" — "Mat" loves a beer & is a frequent visitor at your Brewers Retail store during the summer season.

You have to be Progressive, look ahead & realize that the Tourist Dollar is now bigger business than ever.

Well Fenwick, if you can get over the shock, and are not reading this from your Red Cross Hospital bed, let me put forth a few suggestions for what they're worth.

1. During the summer months, you need more "Litter Drums in the town. Yes I'll admit we Tourists are "Litter Bugs". Why not obtain them from one of your local Service Station & have the High School kids paint them LSD Colours "LOUD" — "SASSY" "DAZZLING" . . .

2. Please, no late Wednesday nights for your Typesetter.

Thanks for listening & continued success,

Your Sparring Partner,
Mrs. James Matas
Toronto, Ontario.

LETTERS CARDS PARCELS

Gift Parcels should be well prepared when mailed to overseas destinations. Heavier volumes of mail mean that extra pressures develop in mail handling equipment, and therefore, during the Christmas Mailing period, every effort should be made to protect your gifts from damage and possible loss.

In your own interest, additional time and effort should be spent on Christmas Mail preparation, so that parcels containing gifts and greetings will be received in better condition and on time for Christmas.

Your Postmaster will assist you.

ABOUT PEOPLE AND THINGS

GENE WHITNEY, president of the men's curling club, stated this week that the ice is going in, all you ardent curlers and new comers to the game, are urged to get ready to sweep. Our good reeve CHARLES BRANDON is off and running next Monday to the Royal York, where he will attend the Musicians Ball. All Slim had to do this week to get ready for the swinging time was have DR. TERRY HICKS of Haliburton remove a tooth. We met recently a real live wire in JACK FEATHERSTONE of Bobcaygeon, owner of a men's and boy's Wear store in that quiet little community to the south of us. Jack had plans of opening a store here in Minden, he would certainly be an asset to the community. Our columnist REV. JIM is on vacation in Toronto, as the whispers are heard here, he is missed by many and once again in the soup with others. This seems to be his walk in life, and will have many questions to air on his arrival. On Sunday, November 26, he has arranged for the PADRE OF THE PUBS in Toronto to take the pulpit. We might add that Rev. Jim is right in step with the article appearing in this month's Observer by ERNEST E. LONG. MRS. GEORGE NESBITT has had quite a stay in Sunnybrook hospital, we extend our good wishes, along with all her friends here in Minden for a speedy recovery. WINTER CARNIVAL Committee met last night to get plans under way for this years freeze-in. More details on this next week. MRS. CHARLIE STEVENS bowled up a storm last week with a 298 at Medley's Bowl. MR. JIM WADE reports that there are now 48 senior citizens at the home and five more are expected in the near future. The LADIES AUXILIARY at the Home have been very busy, the latest project was a baking sale; included in the sale was a white elephant table, and a handicraft table with articles made by the residents. A good crowd attended making the occasion a very big success. Next on the agenda for the ladies will be a Christmas party for the residents. PAUL GAGNON a new comer in Minden only a few months ago, asked me if I would bring to the attention of our readers and especially council that in his opinion the stop sign on the bridge here in Minden is not needed. He claims it might have been alright when highway 35 came through Minden, but now it only creates a hassle. People on the bridge stop, people on the River road stop, he claims no one knows who has the right of way. On talking to many of the people here we find he has many on his side, who think the same way. SAM LABARGE once told me, it is only there to catch people for a fine, and even at that Sam went on to say, "anybody who is anybody at all, never get picked up, it is only guys like me." In expressing our views, we go along with the idea, the sign just might be out dated, and maybe council should take a hard look at this sign, and its need. But let me tell you this Sam, as long as its there you, your chums, and even council members are expected to stop, or suffer the consequences. FRED COOPER has reported a good hunt, and DOUG HEITH whose picture appeared in last weeks paper with two moose and a bear, shot himself a grand-daddy bear this last week-end, weighing 330 pounds. It was shot on the Scotch Line. We will give you complete details on the hunting season, some time in the near future.

ONTARIO HYDRO'S GEO. BAY REGION OFFERS REWARD

Malicious damage to insulators and other vital power equipment by irresponsible 'shooters' in the two weeks before the hunting season opened has forced Ontario Hydro's Georgian Bay Region to offer $250 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of this type of offender.

A Hydro spokesman in Barrie said "Apart from the spiralling costs of repairs and replacements in equipment and manhours, which must ultimately reflect itself in all Hydro bills, the intangible cost are frightening and may well result in loss of life through one of these incidents".

"The breaks in the line are difficult to find in the bush, and frequently the damage does not show up for days and weeks after it is done. Rain or damp weather causes seepage in the cracked insulators and they blow. We frequently require aircraft to find the breaks because the terrain is not patrollable on the ground."

"We need the help of all the people in this region and especially that of the responsible hunters and sportsmen who suffer from the public criticism engendered by the thoughtless few".

HEARING AIDS

A hearing aid gives considerable help in conductive deafness says the Canadian Medical Association in Health. This type of deafness, caused by some condition in the outer or middle ear which hinders sound waves reaching the inner ear, is also helped by medical or surgical treatment.

When deafness is due to damage in the inner ear or the hearing nerve, effectiveness of an aid depends upon the degree of deafness. In total or very severe deafness an aid is useless.

Besides hearing loss, other factors in inner ear deafness may cause sound distortion, especially when sound is amplified. A hearing aid cannot correct this, although some modern aids under good listening conditions and with no background noise can reduce distortion.

ROTARY CORNER

This week the Rotary Club of Minden, kicks off a new column in the pages of the Progress, to keep the people of the district up with the happenings of the club.

The Club hopes it will be of some interest, and will be happy to answer any questions, on Rotary functions or projects, that anyone might have.

This Monday, Charles Brandon as program chairman for the month of November introduced fellow Rotarian Harry Cowen as his speaker. Harry talked about the very interesting L.C.B.O. Employees Association project.

The very worthy project the association had was the trip for two Indian boys from Moosonee and Moose Factory, Ontario a tour of Ontario and Expo. This of course delighted the boys to a great extent, since they had never been away from home before.

Next Monday, November 20th, the Club is holding their annual Ladies Night. This is the one night of the year when the Rotarians wives get to a club meeting. No doubt this evening will prove very interesting, for a special guest speaker will be brought in, and the women will get to see just what their husbands talk about each week.

The Fund Raising Committee of Harry Cowen, Harold Morgan and Al Greir, have come up with another Fund Raising Project. The Committee met Monday evening and decided to hold a $50 Doll Draw. The Doll will be dressed in 50 one dollar bills, and will be drawn for at Rotary Bingo, Thursday, December 28th, 1967.

The Rotary Club here would also like to thank all those supporting the club at Bingo each Thursday, evening in the Arenca. The crowds, although a little down on this series have been very good, and much appreciated. This weeks jackpot will have 52 numbers called, and the special, "all around the outside" will have 46 numbers called. That's all for this week, see you at Bingo.

The 20 exhibits and a professional cooking school are combined in the first Royal Food Show to help inform Canadian consumers all aspects of Ontario's food industry.

MAN INJURED IN CAR CRASH

An Oshawa man sustained minor injuries Saturday evening when his car struck a culvert near Minden and was totally wrecked.

Police said Gordon Howard Henry, 25, sustained lacerations to his face after his car struck a culvert on Highway 121.

Minden OPP Constable Barry Connolly investigated.

SPORTS

WITH BOB BEENEY

The snowfall that we received this week has really brought the snowmobiles out of hibernation and on Tuesday afternoon and evening they were whipping across the fields and up and down the roads.

From now until spring the snowmobile enthusiasts will be out in full force enjoying themselves in Haliburton's fastest growing sport.

I don't know how many people in Minden would own a machine but on a Sunday afternoon you would think that the majority of people in the area own one. According to some of the snow vehicle dealers, sales have been good and its expected with the snow of this week will increase even more.

All the dealers in the area are well equipped and give excellent service so anyone interested in buying a machine doesn't have to go any further away to buy than the immediate area.

Minor hockey in Minden is rolling along on a regular basis with teams practicing on Monday and Thursday nights. Attendance has been good in every classification even during hunting season when sometimes attendance suffers.

Registration in the Ontario Minor Hockey Association is expected to take place in the first part of December. Teams will likely be entered in the Bantam and Juvenile class. It is up to the coach of individual teams to decide whether their team is capable of entering the O.M.H.A.

Minor hockey received a boost when the Minden Kinsmen Club donated $200.00 to the association. Many merchants and supporters also boosted the bank account by purchasing booster stickers. The stickers are still available from any member of the minor hockey executive.

The Minden Figure Skating Club are holding a Family Theatre Night on Tuesday November 21, at the Beaver Theatre in Minden. The picture scheduled is "Trouble With Angels" starring Haley Mills. The show starts at 7:30 P.M. and the tickets are available from the skating club executive or any of the members.

There isn't any better way to support the club than by taking the whole family out for a night at the show.

The skating club has progressed rapidly in the last two years and their much advanced program needs your financial support.

ASSISTANCE AVAILABLE UNDER

THE WOODLANDS IMPROVEMENT ACT

Private landowners in Ontario may receive forestry assistance from the Ontario Government for the management of their property.

Since 1905, free advisory service on reforestation and woodland management problems has been available, but in 1966 the passing of the Woodlands Improvement Act has expanded this considerably.

This Act authorizes the Minister of Lands & Forests to enter into Agreements with landowners under which tree planting and woodland improvement work may be done by the Department of Lands & Forests.

In the case of tree planting, the landowner must pay for the nursery stock to be planted by the Department of Lands & Forests. In both planting and improvement of existing woodlots the owner must protect the woodlands from fire, insect and grazing.

Landowners who are willing and able will be allowed to participate in the tree planting or woodland improvement work, and they will be paid for such work at the prevailing rates.

Although the Woodlands Improvement Act was passed in 1966, it does not come into effect uniformly throughout the Province. For instance, in the Lindsay District, the Act came into effect in Peterborough County in 1967; it comes into effect in Durham and Northumberland Counties in 1968, and in Victoria and Haliburton Counties in 1969.

Twelve landowners in Peterborough County have already entered into agreement with the Minister of Lands and Forests and management work has been carried out on their properties; tree planting and thinning of dense, young natural stands of hardwood has been conducted.

Applications for assistance under the Woodlands Improvement Act are now being received from landowners in Durham and Northumberland Counties, and applications from landowners in Victoria and Haliburton Counties will be accepted in 1968.

Landowners in the Lindsay District may receive further information by contacting the District Forester, 322 Kent Street, West, Lindsay.

What's It All About?

by REV. JIM

HOW TO LIVE WITH THE NEW THEOLOGY

Harvey Cox talks about "doing the truth". Bishop Robinson argues the need for an open-ended search". However one interprets the new ideas about Christianity, one cannot escape the move away from authoritarianism. The stress has been shifted from objective to subjective truth — from doctrine to personal experience. The key has become a relationship with God which guides one from within.

While there are those both among the clergy and the laity who have rejoiced in this view and found it helpful, there are also those who have found it disturbing. Relationship for many people, particularly the older, is with a set of beliefs — some untested, some resented, some doubted perhaps, but all nevertheless accepted as important and, at least to some extent, true. These beliefs include: there is a living God; he cares about right and wrong; the good go to heaven; it is evil to doubt. To them, all this new talk may be not only foolish but sinful.

Consider for a moment how many of us were taught in our formative years. There was not the understanding of psychology that we have now. The objective was to accept what the Bible, the Church, the minister had to say. One gained security when one did not have to question. The idea of digging around one's own depths was peculiar and dangerous, if it occurred at all.

If people are accustomed to looking outside themselves for authoritative answers, it is a long and difficult process to change their ways. It is not enough to tell them there is another possible course. They need to find in themselves and others the qualities which make this course possible. But now the old way seems simply to be rejected with no dependable new guides to replace it. People may feel cast adrift without even a compass.

Perhaps ministers would do well to remember their own early years in theology. What effect did biblical criticism have even in the protected atmosphere of a theological college? Who among us did not feel at least briefly the agony of a lost faith as a new one began to push tentative shoots into our consciousness? We went through the experience in a setting where it was considered a normal stage of growth.

Such is not the case with many others. They may find themselves marooned on an island of doubt, condemned by family and friends, unable to experience God in the familiar ways, let alone the new ones. We should not be surprised if some give up the struggle and join a church where the old ideas are accepted. If we take away the literal authority of the Bible, if we question the institution of the church, if we emphasize the humanity of the minister, the emotional security of "authorities" is gone.

Our aim is still the old Christian one — that people will be motivated by love not "law". But psychology has given us new insights into this aim. One is that everyone has a need to believe in something beyond himself. A second is that we have to receive love before we are able to give it.

When we consider that the need for faith is as vital as the need for food, it gives us some sense of the importance of religion, and therefore of the shock when one's faith is basically threatened. Tillich has developed the idea that one does not choose whether one has faith, but rather what will be one's ultimate concern: Among the possibilities are money, success, power, or God. But do we really understand that for many people there has not been an opportunity for a valid choice? Christianity has not always been presented, or lived, in a way that seems appropriate.

All of us who are identified with the Church make it either easier or harder for the people we meet to believe in a loving God. One of the hardest situations in which to be loving is when we encounter someone who disagrees with our treasured beliefs and frustrates our goals. This is the situation in which we may find ourselves with some of the older, more "fundamentalist" members of our churches to-day. We may be terribly concerned about the young and the outcasts, but feel hamstrung by the strident demands and psychological pressures of the people who want to maintain a faith they can recognize.

If the people who are feeling threatened know that they are understood, that their pain is accepted as a normal human reaction and that they need not face the struggle alone, much of the fear, the bitterness and the need to fight will be alleviated. The Christian community will be more able to move forward constructively.

MARIJUANA CAUSES

"PSYCHIC DEPENDENCE"

SAYS PHYSICIAN

Marijuana smokers who believe that the narcotic is a totally innocuous stimulant without habit-forming effects are naive and ill-informed says Dr. Benjamin Kissin in an interview in To-day's Health.

"This misconception," says Dr. Kissin "has been quoted to me as gospel truth dozens of times by young people. They are wrong and they ought to understand exactly how wrong they are."

Dr. Kissin, New York State University Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn, says that in from being a "safe lark" marijuana can create a "state of psychic dependence" that may be stronger than physical addiction. He points out that — Psychic dependence can result "in most intensive craving and perpetuation of compulsive abuse."

Marijuana does not cause physical dependence, but this fact "has given rise to the misconception that it is not addictive."

Since marijuana produces strong psychic dependence, "its use does tend to become chronic."

Dr. Kissin says that drugs may be used in two ways to relieve the tension of daily life.

"Prescribed sedatives, tranquilizers, and antidepressants, used in moderation, to allay excessive anxiety or depression," Dr. Kissin stated, "often permit individuals to function more effectively in society."

"Psychedelic drugs, such as marijuana, LSD, mescaline, and cocaine allow the individual to escape from reality so that he need not function at all. The first group of drugs is often useful to society; the second would only destroy it."

MINDEN DETACHMENT

REPORT

by Constable E. F. Whitney

Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police during the two week period of October 29 to November 11, investigated ten accidents in which four persons were injured and $3430.00 in damages sustained to the vehicles involved. Patrols of provincial and county roads during this period resulted in 9,320 miles being driven by the officers of Minden Detachment. Twenty-five Highway Traffic Act and eleven Liquor Control Act charges were laid during these patrols.

Criminal investigations totalled twenty-eight for the two week period and are broken down as follows; Thefts 9, Trespassing 8, Damage to Property 6, Disturbances 4 and Break & Enter 1. This is very good considering that Halloween and the first week of hunting season were in this period. To date we have not had a hunting accident and have only one hunter lost; lets keep our fingers crossed so that this good luck will continue.

Since the commencement of the Driver Education Courses and the article in the paper of two weeks ago, I have been confronted several times with the question of who was involved in more accidents the local drivers or the drivers visiting in the area. Well, after doing some checking we find that of date there has been 283 accidents in the county with 423 drivers involved. We find that 261 or 62% of the drivers were non-residents and 162 or 38% were residents. Taking into consideration the amount of non-resident traffic during the summer months, it would appear that the resident drivers are just as accident prone as the non-resident drivers.

With Winter now here in Minden the gentleman pictured above, just might bring back a few memories as he primes an old wooden pump.

HALIBURTON HIGHLANDS SECONDARY SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT DRAWS RECORD CROWD

Over 700 students and adults attended Commencement on Saturday night November 4, in Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. The Principal, Mr. J. Douglas Hodgson, stated in his opening remarks that he was very pleased that so many people had attended Commencement. He expressed his thanks to the many organizations, especially those officials in charge of hockey, that no events were scheduled in the community on Saturday night.

Mr. Hodgson pointed out that one hundred and nine students received either the Grade 12 or 13 diploma. In the past two years twenty graduates have entered universities. This year alone over thirty students have gone on to some institution of higher learning.

Miss Patsy A. Deacon, the graduate class' Valedictorian, said: "To be a man is, precisely, to be responsible. It is to feel, when setting one's stone, that one is contributing to the building of the world. These words of St. Exuperius were the theme of Expo '67, Canada's Centennial project. They are perhaps even more applicable to the centennial graduates.

Each of us as we have graduated from high school have entered the adult world where we too will be responsible. We are among the most fortunate people in the world to have the easy access to education that we do, to have an opportunity to learn how to fulfil our responsibility. At university I have learned that one of the most disruptive forces in society is people who cannot act responsibly, who do not understand the concept that the behaviour of each citizen affects society."

Dr. S.G.B. Robinson, B.A., B.Ed., L.L.D., Secretary School Liaison Officer of Waterloo University also followed the theme of man's responsibility for society. He told the graduates that theirs was not the first generation to be in revolt against their parents who control society. He thought that his generation had been more skillful in its tactics of protest than the present one. It was his belief that his generation had made progress and he forecast that the present generation had made progress and he forecast that the present generation would make more progress because they are going to be better educated and prepared for the task.

MINDEN LIBRARY

As this week is Library week in keeping with this Did You Know?

That there has been a library here for nearly seventy years.

This was one room over the bank. Later it was moved to a room over the Printing Office.

Then it was destroyed by fire and made a new start.

Several officers and librarians gave their services for many years, Miss Annie Gainer as Librarian for some 19 years, Miss F. Rogers Librarian for 16 years and Mrs. W. Moore for 16 years, and E.A. Rogers as Secretary Treasurer for 26 years.

A building given by S.W. Welch was moved to the lot donated by Mrs. Wm. Cox.

This building was in turn replaced by the former Bank of Commerce building and moved to this same lot and is used today.

Salaries were mostly $1.00 per month.

When Association Libraries were discontinued this became a Branch of Haliburton County System. As finances were always a problem the fine books now available fill most of the requirements of this community.

Visit your library, it is open 10 hours a week, hours being Monday, Wednesday Friday and Saturday, 3-5 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday evenings 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

WOODS, WATERS AND WILDLIFE

By James Woodford

Pollution of air, water and soil costs each person in Ontario about $72. per year — about $500,000,000 — according to the Federation of Ontario Naturalists.

Air pollution costs Ontario residents $25 per capita per year, water pollution $22 and soil pollution $25.

Since 1956 a total of $1,250,000,000 has been spent to combat water pollution, reports the Ontario Water Resources Commission. In addition industry has spent $110,000,000 on facilities for treatments of its waste.

The costs are for sewage treatment and disposal, water treatments of its waste.

The costs are for sewage treatment and disposal, water treatment, and other costs such as expenses for cleaning buildings from soot stains and the extra costs of travelling further to find a clean swimming area.

These are the more obvious penalties we are paying because of the pollution of our environment — but some less obvious effects may, in the long run, have more serious consequences.

For example, diseases attributable to air pollution are bronchial infections, cancer and emphysema. Emphysema is the fastest growing disease in North America. There is apparently no cure for it. Oxygen bearing cells in the blood become contaminated and less oxygen is absorbed. The victim becomes short of breath and the strain on the body usually leads to a heart attack or a collapse of the lungs.

Air pollution may be a major factor in lung and skin cancers. In carbon monoxide there are nine pollutants attributable to carcinogens — cancer causing compounds.

We must initiate a meaningful program dedicated to the solution of problems that involve conflict between man and nature. The Federation of Ontario Naturalists recognizes that man must alter his environment. It denies, however, that pollution, degradation of the landscape and the fouling of the atmosphere must be the byproducts of progress. We must use our sophisticated technology so that our life is enriched by quality as well as quantity.
